

PROPOSAL FOR THE GLENTREE SALES TEAM

Two agents that sell while your team sleeps.

A proposal to replace manual follow-up with agents that answer every call and every message, qualify the buyer, book the site visit and write the lead themselves — against a live plan of every villa you have left to sell.

STATUS

Live today

The AI voice agent answers every call you miss.

It picks up, speaks with the buyer, understands what they are looking for, and writes the lead into your pipeline before anyone on your team has looked at a phone.

It never misses one

Evenings, Sundays, three calls at once — every one answered. A missed call is a buyer who rings the next builder instead.

Every word is kept

A full transcript of each call, with who rang and when. No more “I think he said three bedrooms”.

It writes the lead itself

Budget, configuration, timeline and urgency are pulled from the conversation and scored the same way every time — so your follow-up list orders itself.

LANGUAGES SPOKEN

It holds a real conversation — not a broadcast.

Buyers message the way they actually do: at 11pm, in Telugu, asking about a 3BHK. The agent answers from the sanctioned plan, never invents a price, and moves them toward a site visit.

A REAL EXCHANGE, NOT A SCRIPT

Buyer: What is the price and layout for a 3BHK villa?

Agent: The 3BHK follows our 200 sq yd layout — 3 bedrooms, living, dining/kitchen, utility, puja, powder room, lift shaft and parking, plus a study and a terrace room. Would you like to schedule a site visit?

It collects the paperwork

Aadhaar, PAN and bank statement for a home loan, gathered in the same thread the buyer already trusts — then attached to their record.

STAFF HOURS SPENT

The same buyer, whether they call or message.

Most systems keep the phone log in one place and the chat history in another, so one person becomes two half-records and nobody sees the whole story. Here both agents write to the same lead.

Your actual site plan, with every villa's status on it.

Not a list of unit numbers — the sanctioned master plan itself. Click any villa for its plot size, its cluster, who owns the deal and how far it has reached.

The desk and the screen agree

A villa blocked at site is blocked here too — the plan a buyer sees is never out of date.

Onyx as well

The apartments carry their own floor plans, a 360° walkthrough and a three-dimensional cutaway of the flat.

A site visit booked without anyone picking up the phone.

The single step where high-value deals are most often lost — and the one nobody has time to chase on a Sunday evening.

- 1 The buyer asks in their own words.
“This Saturday at 11am” or “kal shaam 5 bajе” — both understood.
- 2 The diary is checked.
Real opening hours and real capacity, not a form that accepts anything.
- 3 A full day offers alternatives.
If Saturday is booked out it offers the next one, rather than a dead end.
- 4 It lands on the calendar.
With the buyer's requirement and the conversation already attached.
- 5 Follow-ups raise themselves.
A reminder before, and the next step after — without anyone setting one.

Why this step matters most

Deals at this value are rarely lost on price. They are lost because a visit was never confirmed, or an agreement date slipped and nobody noticed in time.

WHERE THE ENQUIRIES COME FROM

Marketing and sales in the same place, for once.

Post to Instagram, Facebook, YouTube and LinkedIn, then see which post actually produced a walk-in — without exporting a spreadsheet to find out.

One video, four networks

Upload once. It is branded, captioned, archived and published everywhere, with a delivery confirmation for each.

When your buyers are awake

Engagement by day and hour, so the next post goes out on evidence rather than habit.

Honest numbers

Where a channel reports nothing, the screen says so. Nothing is invented to fill a gap in a dashboard.

Everyone sees their own desk — and nothing else.

Sales, loans, site, audit and reception each get the screens their job needs. Customer records are opened deliberately, one person at a time.

ROLES DEFINED

Operations and access

Loan cases end to end

Document checklist, eligibility, bank submission — tracked per buyer instead of per inbox.

A deal board that matches reality

Visit scheduled, negotiation, token deposit — the stages your team already works in.

A receptionist cannot open revenue

Permission is checked on every screen, not hidden behind a menu that someone can type past.

What you gain over a standard property CRM.

A CRM of PropFlo's class records what your team does. Glentree does part of the work — and is built around these two projects rather than configured from a template that fits many developers.

A general property CRM

RECORDS THE WORK

- Leads are entered by your team, after the call has ended
- WhatsApp is used to broadcast campaigns to a list
- Inventory is a list of unit numbers and statuses
- Follow-ups depend on someone remembering to set one
- Marketing performance lives in a separate tool
- Configured from a template that fits many developers

Glentree

DOES THE WORK

- The agent answers the call and writes the lead itself
- WhatsApp holds a real conversation and qualifies the buyer
- Inventory is your sanctioned site plan — clickable and live
- Visits are booked in chat and follow-ups raise themselves
- Posting, reach and enquiries sit beside the pipeline
- Built around Serenity and Onyx, in their own plans and language

Comparison drawn from PropFlo's published capabilities; where the two overlap, both do the job well.

READY TO SHOW

Running today, on your own projects.

Both agents are live. The master plan carries all 182 villas. Instagram, Facebook, YouTube and LinkedIn are connected and reporting. Nothing in this document is a mock-up — every screen shown was photographed from the running system.
